Our Programme

Learning how to creatively confront challenges is a necessary component of any strategy that promotes innovation. The systematic use of creative method has been shown to substantially improve an organization's capacity to confront challenges and enhance employee engagement through participation in the generation and implementation of new solutions. This workshop serves as the basis for projects in all business areas, including Strategy, Structure, Culture Change, People Engagement, Marketing & Sales, Product Development, Customer Experience, Client Service & Logistics and more.

Participants will work on real challenges, using creative method and various creativity tools and techniques, which have been shown to greatly enhance the efficacy of solving complex problems. Emphasis is given to the whole cycle of resolving business and organizational problems through teamwork: creative investigation to define challenges, creative idea generation to resolve challenges, evaluation and choice of best solutions, selling your ideas and action planning for implementation.

Who should attend?

The programme is addressed to people at all levels in organizations. This workshop will have immediate practical outcomes for teams with common challenges.

Facilitator

Dimis Michaelides is an internationally acclaimed speaker, author, consultant and trainer in leadership, creativity and innovation. He is also a professor at the Business School of Neapolis University Pafos.

In 2007, Dimis published a model for organisational innovation in his book The Art of Innovation © – Integrating Creativity in Organizations (2007, 2011).
